

Hello Year 6

My name is Miss Angel and I am the Head of English at Sir William Ramsay School. I have been teaching at SWRS for just over a year now and I absolutely love it.

In the English department you will find a large group of teachers all working to improve your reading and understanding, literacy and spelling. And it's not just about reading books! We explore poetry and newspapers, play texts and websites, and that's just in Year 7!

We also have access to the fantastic LRC and library. Mrs Hallam runs the LRC and library and will be very excited to show you around and encourage you to read books you will go on to love.

In September the first novel you will discover is Animal Farm by George Orwell. This story tells the tale of a group of pigs taking charge of a farm full of animals and all the chaos it causes.

As a department we cannot wait to meet you!
